Transitional provisions relating goods sent to job worker. [Section 141] [Rule 3]

It is possible that a person send some goods to a job worker during the period of existing tax regime and these goods are received back on or after the appointed day. In that case if both the manufacturer and the job worker declares the details of such inputs or goods held in stock by the job worker on behalf of the manufacturer in FORM GST TRAN-1 within 90 days of the appointed day, then provision of section 141 shall apply, and such transfer shall be taxed as follows:

In case registered person has sent such inputs to a job worker for further processing, testing, repair, reconditioning or any other purpose, prior to the appointed day, no tax shall be payable if such inputs are returned to the said place within six months (which may further be extended for another two months by the Commissioner) from the appointed day. In case such goods are not returned within this period, the ITC in respect of such goods availed earlier shall be liable to be recovered as an arrear of tax under GST Act and the amount so recovered shall not be admissible as input tax credit under GST.

However, if such inputs are in form of Semi-finished goods that have been removed from the place of business to any other premises for carrying out certain manufacturing processes; or they are in form of excisable goods that have been removed from the place of business to any other premises for carrying out tests or any other process not amounting to manufacture and the manufacturer supplies the said goods from such other premises directly, either on payment of tax in India or without payment of tax for exports, within the prescribed time limit, than it shall be presumed that such goods have been returned back within the prescribed time limit.
